PEPPERRELL ASSOCIATION HOLDS ANNUAL REUNION

Have A Business Meeting, Elect Officers And Get Year Book

Interesting Programme In The Afternoon With Able Addresses

The twelfth annual reunion of the Col. William Pepperrell Association was held at the Baptist church at Kittery Point on Thursday, and it was well attended, and a great deal of interest was shown in the programme.

At the morning session a business meeting was held at which time the Pepperrell Year book was presented. This has been on the way for several years and was finished in time for the meeting. It contains a sketch of Sir William Pepperrell, and gives the names of the eight children of Col. William Pepperrell, and their descendants and all of the members of the association. The by laws and constitution of the Association are also given and other useful information. The committee who have charge of issuing the book were Frank L. Fernald of Eliot, Mrs. Walter of Lowell, and Miss Edith M. Hall of Eliot.

The officers were all re-elected and they were as follows: President Hon. Everett Pepperrell Wheeler of New York, Vice Presidents Ira M. Locke, Sir William Pepperrell, and gives the names of the eight children of Col. William Pepperrell, and their bridge and John W. Deering of Boston. Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Edith Martha Rattr of Eliot, Chaplain Rev. William Salter, Burlington, Iowa, Auditor Frank Linwood Fernald, Eliot, Chairman of committee on tomb and lot O. L. Frisbee, Portsmouth, Ancestral committee Miss Helen Bell Vennard, Rensselaer committee F. L. Fernald, Mrs. H. I. Darguin, Eliot, and Mrs. E. P. Tarleton Portsmouth.

At the afternoon session in the absence of President Wheeler Vice President Brooks presided and Philbrick's orchestra of this city furnished the music for the afternoon exercises. It opened with the singing of America by the audience with orchestra. Prayer by Rev. V. B. Bragdon and the address of welcome was given by Prof. Brooks and it was an able effort. A vocal solo by Miss Mattie M. Langdon followed and a reading by Miss Esther M. Spinnery was next and after an orchestra selection an able address was given by Rev. C. P. Emery, a duet by Misses Pauline and Leonore McIntire was well rendered and this was followed by the reading of an original poem by Cecil Haugden Cutts Maynard, which was read by Mr. Alexander Bennett a vocal solo by Miss Langdon and a reading by Miss Spinnery and the exercises were closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by the audience.

YORK COUNTY HAS A REAL SENSATION

Three Deputy Sheriffs Have Their Commissions Revoked

Sheriff Athorne Has Partly Reorganized His Official Force

"If They Want the Reason They Can Have It By Asking"

"You are hereby notified that your commission as a deputy sheriff of the county of York is rescinded this date, and from henceforward you are not qualified to act as such."

That is the gist of a summary notice which has been served or will be served at once upon three deputy sheriffs of York county.

Three three deputies are George F. Preble of York, Joseph Clark of Wells, and Frank S. Beal of Springvale.

Rumor had it that all the way from six to twelve men were to be dropped, and especially that the county was to get a change of jallers. Sheriff George O. Athorne of Eliot states that he had no such idea and that the only men dropped are the three named.

"If a deputy's actions do not suit me, I shall drop him and continue to do so as long as I am sheriff," said Mr. Athorne, "and if they want the reason they can have it by asking me. I placed the notices in Deputy Sheriff Littlefield's hands Wednesday, and should have done so before but for the talk they would have made that it was done for effect on the county convention. As for the reasons, I will tell that to the men direct if they want it and let them make their own choice of whether it will be made public."

Mr. Athorne was not ready to announce any new appointments of deputies.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Lucullus Division of the Uniform Rank Has Been Reorganized

Lucullus Division, No. 8, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, was reorganized on Wednesday night by Major W. J. Andrews and Lieut. Willis Frost of Somersworth.

The new organization has been assigned to Major Andrews' battalion. The officers of Lucullus Company are: Captain, Caleb Lord; Lieutenant, Richard Hannaford; Sergeant, George McDonald.

The company starts out in flourishing condition. Members of Crescent Company of Dover were in Portsmouth on that evening where they attended the reorganization of the company.

At the close of the work refreshments were served and a pleasant hour spent socially.

JUMPED TRAIN HERE

Dover Man Has a Narrow Escape From Death at Newburyport

On Wednesday night, William S. Barnside of Dover boarded a west bound freight train in this city and nearly met death at Newburyport. Barnside either fell or jumped from the train while in motion and when picked up by the police was in a serious condition.

His eyes were in bad shape, one being entirely closed. The man's left cheek was cut in several places, and filled with clinders, and his lip cut and bleeding and all swollen; also his nose and forehead were cut. Inside his mouth the lower lip was cut deep, and the doctor advised sewing, but the man thought it would heal, so they did not have it stitched.

GREAT REAL ESTATE SALE

The Blibrock Property at the Creek Will be Sold at Auction

On August fourth at eleven o'clock, will take place the sale of the extensive Blibrock Property at the Creek. It will be sold in parcels including: Three-tenement block on Woodbury Avenue.

Three single houses on Bartlett St. One double-tenement house on Bartlett street.

Nine fifty-foot front lots of land on Bartlett street and several fifty-foot lots of land on Woodbury Avenue.

The buildings to be sold are in good condition, and will make desirable homes for employees conveniently located. The large garden lots will be sold in connection with each house.

The opening of these fine buildings offers an exceptional opportunity to people desiring to own a home.

LOCAL DASHES

The through automobile travel has fallen off in the past week.

A heavy shower passed to the north of the city on Thursday afternoon.

The friends of Benjamin Green will be pleased to hear that he is rapidly improving from his recent illness.

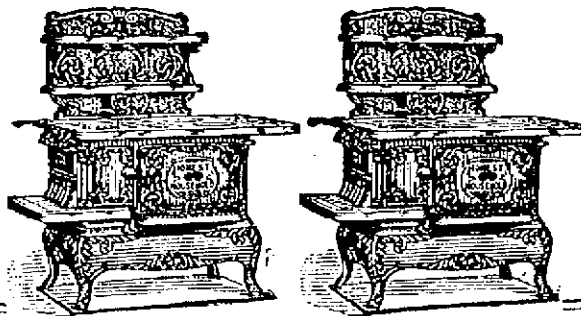

The baseball season could be influenced by a series of games between teams of employees in local industries.

Berries of all kinds were never more plentiful than at present. Blackberries are especially so and berrying parties are meeting with great success.

Thursday was one of the hot days of the season with a temperature running over ninety. A southwest breeze helped out the situation during the afternoon.

The New Hampshire Press Association are anxiously looking forward to the annual outing in this city on August 8. They are assured of a good time in advance.

DANIEL WEBSTER AND A COMPANION

A Painter and a Tinker Before Judge Simes This Morning

The combination in police court today was made up of a tinker and a painter.

The tinker with the distinguished name of Daniel Webster came down from Concord on Thursday to get the sea breeze but when he arrived here he forgot all about the "gallop salt water" and from the Piscataqua and annexed himself to the brass rail where he told the backstop trials and troubles of himself and his friends since Concord was infested by water wagon clubs.

Nothing like old Portsmouth and he took such advantage of the situation that the heat and sociability was too much. Today he was willing to stick to the soldering iron for a year and the court placed Daniel's case on file.

Harry Clark, an artist with the brush, claimed he was also a resident of the Capitol city and admitted that life here was certainly rosy. Harry came here to paint the town but his coloring substance gave out after several rounds and he enjoyed the electric fans during the evening at the city hotel. Judge Simes told Harry to forget it and placed his case on file. Clark will hereafter do his painting nearer home, perhaps at Saco.

AT THE NAVY YARD

The fish are certainly decreasing in the river since the clerical force began dropping their lines off the shears duck at noon. Up to date J. Howard Jenkins claims the blue ribbon for the largest catch while the yards and docks men are entitled to the honors for the abundance of sculpin brought up on the hook.

William H. Hampshire, fireman on the ferry 132 is enjoying a short vacation.

John C. Dolan of the construction and repair clerical force leaves tomorrow for St. Louis, where he will attend the national convention of the Knights of Columbus as one of the state's delegates.

Seventeen laborers were called on Thursday for duty in the department of construction and repair.

The bronze tablet to be placed on the commandant's residence in honor of Admiral Farragut arrived today and will be put in place on Friday, Aug. 1. The unveiling will be by Admiral Dewey.

The first detachment of the marine guard sent to Panama is shortly expected to arrive at the yard.

It appears that the picnic plans of the yards and docks clerical force has been sidetracked.

FOREST PROTECTION

New Hampshire Society to Meet on August 5 at Intervale

The program for the annual meeting of the Society for Protection of New Hampshire Forests that meets at the Intervale House, Intervale, N. H., on Wednesday, August 5, contains items of special interest. Dr. Edward Everett Hale who, when a young man more than sixty years ago, assisted in surveying the White Mountains, will be present and take part. Mr. James H. Gailor of Washington, D. C., will represent the American Forestry Association and C. J. H. Woodbury of Boston the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers. The large cotton mills are taking note of the water that flows from the White Mountain region. Mr. E. A. Stark will represent the Massachusetts Forestry Association and F. W. Kane, the state forester of Massachusetts, may be in attendance.

J. H. Foster of the United States Forest Service, who has been making special studies in the state for the New Hampshire Forestry Commission during the past five months, will speak on the "Taxation of Forest Lands" and Mr. Allen Hills of Concord, N. H., will speak upon the relation of the Forest to the Development of Electricity. Robert E. Paulsen of Keene, secretary of the State Forestry Commission, will be present and members of the forestry committee of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

In the late afternoon there will be a short excursion through the famous Cathedral Woods of Intervale to Mt. Surprise, commanding one of the very noble views in the mountain region. In the evening the forester of the society will show in a series of lantern pictures, the forest conditions of the White Mountains.

Governor Rollins will preside. It is expected that Overton W. Price, associate forester with Mr. Plimber in the forest service at Washington, will speak upon "Forest Reserves and the proposed National Forests in the White Mountains and Southern Appalachian Mountains."

All who are interested in this important subject are cordially invited to attend.

The bids on the new play ground will be opened the first of the week.

DO YOU GET UP

WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It is the greatest medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will find just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

A COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

Is The York Harbor Reading Club, With Its List Of Distinguished Members

The most cosmopolitan little club in the East is the reader of "Citizens of the world" who visit the York Harbor reading room and find other "citizens of the world" there. For gathered there in the summer time from widely scattered sections of the country are men whose names are known not only in this, but in other lands—men of wealth, of culture, of ability.

In the lounge room of any exclusive club in New York, Boston, Philadelphia or Washington it would be hard to find a gathering of men "who have done things" that would equal in brilliancy the group of prominent summer residents here who make up the long membership list of 60 of the reading room. Of an afternoon they motor or drive over to the cozy new clubhouse overlooking the ocean—men who are leaders in finance, literature, the army, the navy; men of leisure who have traveled much, and hard-working businessmen who have taken a few weeks' respite from trade.

They all have their list of clubs at home, but they find here a spirit of good-fellowship that is sometimes lacking in the more formal intercourse of their favorite organizations in town. Several Boston men are members or subscription members, and three well known citizens of the Hub—Francis A. Peters, R. D. Young and W. E. Curtis—are on the board of governors.

P. E. Dunne ("Mr. Dooley") and Thomas Nelson Page are two of the prominent literary men who belong. Former Governor Rollins of New Hampshire and Park Commissioner Bryan Lathrop of Chicago are leaders in the civic affairs who are often seen at the reading room. Stories of the army in peace and at war can be depended upon from such men as Gen. S. P. Sanger, U. S. A., Gen. James Forney, U. S. M. C., Gen. Randolph, U. S. A., Col. Samuel B. Bell of Philadelphia, and the naval branch is often represented by officers who are put up as guests.

Other prominent members are: John Fox, C. W. Fox, Capt. J. D. J. Kelley, Norman Haggood, Francis Lynde Stetson of New York; John C. Rice of Boston, Henry S. Gove, president of the Cramp Ship Building Company; Richard DeWolf of New York, and Dr. E. H. Sizer of Philadelphia.

The families of the members make the reading room a rendezvous in the afternoon, and with the opening of the new house a busy season is under way. The main room is a big lounge room, which opens on to a large piazza on the ocean side. The club is located at one of the prettiest spots in the vicinity, with the sea in front and wooded land inland.

A VICTORIOUS CONFERENCE

Canton Parker of Dover Confers With Cantor Senter of this City

At the regular meeting of Canton Senter, Pathearches Militant, on Tuesday evening a delegation from Canton Parker of Dover visited the elevators.

The object of their visit was to see what action the Portsmouth branch would take on securing, with the Davenport, a special train to take the two Cantons to the field day of the order to be held at Manchester on Wednesday, September 2.

After a joint and thorough discussion of the matter it was voted to secure the train, and it is estimated that at least one hundred of the fraters of each Canton will take advantage of its cheap rate.

At the conclusion of business a delicious lunch was served. The delegation from Canton Parker consisted of Capt. J. W. Gray, Capt. Eli P. Bessey, Lieut. D. A. Grover and Ensign R. H. Twombly.

Two Men Implicated in Hampton Hold up In Court

Joseph Landran and Howard Taylor were arraigned in the Tuxedo municipal court Thursday, charged with the attempted hold up of A. J. Elliott when driving his automobile, with his wife and two children. Both pleaded not guilty.

Dr. J. H. Taylor of Amesbury, Mass., asked for a continuance till Friday afternoon of the case of his son, which was granted by Judge Shute.

They were required to furnish $500 bail each for appearance at 2 P. M. Friday and being unable to do so, were lodged in jail.

THE OLD TUB COULD DO IT

A well known gentleman called at the Herald office last evening, and said that all of the talk about hand tubs put him in mind of the argument once made that no hand tub could reach the top of the North Church steeple, and to settle it, it was tried and the Atlantic No. 6, did the job. The old tub was a corker according to his story and the present tubs would have to take a seat far in the rear if she was in commission now.

The United States produces the greatest amount of cotton, but speaking generally it is not of the best grade. The swamp lands of Louisiana, when redeemed, will be capable of growing the best quality of cotton and in sufficient quantity to duplicate the long staple cotton crop of the world.

Directions for Callers.

On the wall of an entrance to an old tenement house in Washington street, New York, are written these words in charcoal: "Pottenholes made and floors scrubbed, upstairs to you're right."

New Dust-Killing Machine.

Constant General Robert J. Wynne reports that a new far-spraying machine, which the makers claim will do away with the dust nuisance, has been tested on the roadway in front of the Horticultural hall, Westminster, London, before practically the whole of the municipal engineers, a large number of county surveyors and suburban engineers, and two representatives appointed by the war office.

After the far-spraying process a second machine scattered a level layer of granite grit and chips upon the tar, which, when rolled, formed a road with a fine, smooth surface, durable and dustless. A tar macadam road made in this way costs from 30¢ to 45¢ (35 to 37 cents) a square yard, as against ordinary macadam which costs on an average 25¢, 6d. (30 cents) a square yard.

Admiral Coghlan's Story.

Rear Admiral Joseph H. Coghlan tells how when the head of a C. A. R. reception committee at a country celebration was asked if he was not pleased at the large attendance, replied in the negative.

"I should think you'd be delighted with this turnout," the city visitor commented; "they'll leave lots of money in town."

"Lots of money, hell!" was the growling reply. "Those farmers have each got a clean shirt and a two-dollar bill and neither has been changed yet."—New York Sun.

NEED FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION.

Alonso's Good Reason for Striking When the Iron Was Hot.

As Alonso came into the drawing room the fair Gwendoline flew to meet him.

"Darling," she murmured, "papa has changed his mind. He has consented to our engagement."

"Oh, joy!" exclaimed the young man, hugging her. "But why?"

"Well, Louise, please, pet, you know father believes in heredity—that wise parents have wise children, and so on. Now, my father has never met any of your family; but last night, at a vestry meeting, father opposed a motion in favor of the docking of immigrants' tails. When it was put to the vote, only father and one other man was against. Alonso, that other man was your father. My father now thinks your father a very wise person and desires the honor of his acquaintance. Isn't it scrumptious?"

A look of determination came across the youth's fair face.

"Gwendoline," he said, "we must be married before our fathers meet."

"Why? Surely your father doesn't drink, or anything like that?" was the amazed response.

"No; only he's stone deaf!"—Stray Stories.

THE LADY AND THE DETECTIVE.

Startling Statement That Really Called for an Explanation.

Mrs. "Jack" Gardner of Boston has taken up the Audubon society's war against the hat of many feathers.

"This hat is the worst omnivorous creation that the milliners have yet given us," she said at a recent dinner. "The number of things required to trim the hat is frightening. Its appetite, in fact, reminds me of a police court episode."

"A detective was testifying in the case of a woman shoplifter whom he had arrested in her bedroom."

"And, your honor," he said, "when I told her the charge, she turned her back to me and swallowed a purse, six suits of silk underwear, a silver candlestick, a chafing dish, and—"

"Rubbish! Are you crazy?" the magistrate interrupted.

"Excuse me. What I mean to say, your honor," explained the detective, is that she swallowed the pawn tickets."

New York Described by New Yorker.

New York is the dirtiest of the world's great cities and the noisiest, and the skyscrapers on which we pride ourselves are making its streets the darkest on God's footstool. Hitherto, however, we had been able to look upward—from the footstool to the throne, so to speak—and catch glimpses of the sky and of the sun or the moon, especially if we happened to be passing through a park or square. But even of this resource we are now being robbed. What with the dirt, the din and the darkness, to say nothing of the everlasting quick lunch, strap bangle, step lively scramble of our daily lives, it is small wonder that money is to be made by advertising remedies for shattered nerves and establishments for "making men over," but even such advertisers could not pay the city a price that would justify it in selling its open spaces for such use.—Letter to New York Sun.

Quite the Contrary.

"Gentlemen," said the campaign spellbinder, as he began his speech, "in the words of our illustrious chief at Washington, who said: 'Speak!'"

"Loud!" yelled a score of voices in the back part of the hall.

"Not at all, gentlemen," said the orator, visibly irritated. "He said, as every well-informed person knows: 'Speak softly,' even while carrying the big stick. If I am interrupted again"—here he waved the chairman's gavel aloft—"I shall use the big stick unsparingly!"

Having thus asserted himself, and silenced the rude persons who had been guilty of the unseasonable interruption, he resumed his speech.

Successful Hypocrite.

Grigori, the son of a fisherman, a priest in a rich abbey in Florence, had a net spread every day on the table of his apartment to put him, as he said, in mind of his origin. The abbey dying, this dissipated humbly pious Grigori to be his successor, and the net was used no more. A friend who came to see him the day afterwards, on entering his apartment, said:

"Where is the net?"

"There is no further occasion for the net," replied Grigori, "when the fish is caught."

Poor Carlo?

Traveler—Here, landlord, what's the matter with your dog? I've driven him away a score of times, but he always comes back again and sits close up to my armchair watching every mouthful I take. Do turn him out and let me have my dinner in peace.

Landlord—Please, sir, my Carlo is such a knowing brute. I expect you have got the plate he generally eats off.—Stray Stories.

Presumption.

Phisty—I suppose you think that if you had the regulating of the universe you could make some improvements on the present job, don't you?"

Kupha—I don't know about that, but I think I could suggest one change. I should like to have things so arranged that when a man is having a good time the days would seem to pass slowly instead of quickly. I'm about to take a vacation."

Characterizes Certain Report as "an Infamous Lie."

FAITHFUL TO HIS TRUST.

Never Said That He Would or Could Deliver the Labor Vote, and Declares That He Wants No Political Office or Honor--Those Who Take Issue With Him Are Classed as Political Renegades.

Washington, July 31.—"The report that I have ever said that I would or could deliver the labor vote to any political party is an infamous lie," said Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, "Organized labor is not only honest, but intelligent enough to choose the party for its support which will best represent its interests."

"It is possible that by lies and misrepresentations the enemies of organized labor may injure me personally and even be successful in accomplishing my removal as president of the American Federation of Labor," said Gompers, "but that will never change my course in battling for the principles for which I stand."

"It is not a question of politics with me. I have no politics, or if I have, they are the politics of the people. I fully expected when I took the stand which I have," said Gompers, "that some would disagree with me. I don't expect the labor world to accept my conclusions in every instance. I expected to be criticized, but, in some quarters, but I did not think that the criticism would be so unjust as to be contemptible. I stand for the right of individual opinion."

"I regard my position as president of the American Federation of Labor as the most exalted and honorable in this world in which I could ever wish to aspire. It is a sacred trust with which my fellows have honored me because of my convictions and the principles which I advocate. They may take that honor away from me if they like, and I will bow to their will. But it will not prevent me from fighting for the cause which is my life's work. Just as I have in the past and as I propose to do in the future."

"I want no political office or honor. I have nothing for sale, and don't propose to begin at this late day by selling my honor. What I think and what I say is from conscientious conviction that it is the truth. No one can make me sacrifice my honest conviction."

"My editorial in The American Federationist plainly and forcefully sets forth my position. He who runs may read and understand. Those who have taken issue with the position therein set forth, not understanding me, with the position I am alleged to have assumed, are political renegades and discredited outcasts of labor. I do not mean those who differ with my opinion are such, but those who have denounced me and claim that I have not set forth the facts as they are."

Republican National Chairman F. H. Hitchcock, when asked as to the truth of the report that a personal campaign was to be waged against Gompers, replied: "Nothing of the kind has been arranged."

HISGEN'S HOMECOMING.

Springfield, Mass., July 31.—Thomas L. Hisgen of West Springfield, nominee of the Independence party for President of the United States, arrived in this city from Chicago last evening. Upon his arrival here he was greeted by several hundred of his townsmen, who escorted him to the town hall in West Springfield, where he was tendered an ovation unparalleled in the history of the town. The meeting of citizens in his honor was thoroughly non-partisan and purely a personal tribute to Hisgen. The meeting was addressed by delegates to the convention and Hisgen himself.

A DEMOCRATIC STRUGGLE.

Charleston, W. Va., July 31.—After an all-night session the Democrats of West Virginia, in convention here, nominated Louis Bennett of Lewis county for governor at 4 o'clock in the morning, after the convention had struggled for hours over the only two planks in the platform. "These two planks were the negro disfranchisement and 'Jim Crow' planks, which, after the resolutions committee had reported them favorably, were made a part of the platform and series of the wildest excitement."

TAFT FEELS TIRED.

Hot Springs, Va., July 31.—William H. Taft admits that he feels somewhat tired from the rapid evolution he has been going through during the past eight days. If the wishes of the candidate can be realized, his engagements during August will be very limited.

ALMOST READY FOR FLIGHT.

Washington, July 31.—The work of building the big gas bag of Thomas S. Baldwin's ship was begun today. The tent in which the balloon will be housed arrived at Fort Meyer yesterday and was pitched this morning. By Monday, barring accidents, Captain Baldwin will be ready to make his first flight.

COMPARISON OF PLATFORMS.

Bryan Has Something to Say Regarding Independence Party.

Lincoln, Neb., July 31.—The most interesting piece of news to emanate from Fairview yesterday was a formal statement by William J. Bryan, in which he discussed the platform of the Independence party, adopted at the convention at Chicago, and pointed out that it contains a number of planks identical with, or substantially similar to, the planks of the Democratic platform.

He declared that the voter preferring the Democratic platform to the Republican platform, and yet who joins with the Independence party, merely assists the Republican party and thus defeats the reforms in which he is interested. Bryan argued that "the question is not whether one can get all the reform that he wants, but how he can get the most reform." He asserts that the Democratic party offers the best opportunity to secure that which is obtainable at this time.

No attempt will be made by Bryan to reply to the open letter of Victor Rosewater of Omaha, charging a conspiracy between Bryan and his brother-in-law, State Chairman Allen, to "purloin" votes in Nebraska.

Unlike his distinguished opponent, who refused to accept an elephant as a mascot, Bryan, in reply to a letter from the Agricultural Society of Minnesota, telegraphed that he would be delighted to avail himself of their offer to send him an "educated mule" as a mascot.

HER SLAYER MAY NEVER BE KNOWN.

Inquest Sheds No Light on the Murder of Hazel Drew.

Troy, N. Y., July 31.—At the closing session of the inquest into the death of Hazel Drew the coming and going of the young woman, from the day she resigned her position in E. R. Cary's home on July 1 until her body was found in Troy's pond on July 11, were related with meagre incident.

A touch of the pathetic might have been expected when the mother of Hazel, garbed in heavy mourning, identified the clothing in which the girl went to her death. But it was not forthcoming, for the mother snuffed now and then, as she critically turned over the various articles of wearing apparel, and recognized them as having been worn by her daughter when alive. Her story was like that she has always told, colorless and barren of detail.

Then the coroner summoned the father of Hazel, who had told the little he knew of his daughter's habits and associates.

Mrs. Taylor, the aunt of the dead girl, who has been a source of much perplexity to District Attorney O'Brien, was sharply cross-examined by him. She smiled pleasantly throughout the ordeal, except for a few moments when she handed the garments of the dead girl, when she looked as though she might break down and sob.

Four other witnesses gave testimony, and then the inquest into the Troy's pond tragedy closed.

The coroner will make public his findings today, which, it is believed, will be the stereotyped announcement that the girl came to her death at the hands of a person or persons unknown.

MINERS AFRAID TO WORK.

St. Charles, Mo., July 31.—Fearing that twenty-five Montenegro miners who were discharged from work by the President Coal company will carry out an alleged threat and blow up the mines with dynamite, 350 miners have refused to return to work. The foreigners congregated about the mouth of the mine and prevented hundreds of other men entering. The arrival of Sheriff Arthur with a posse precipitated a fight, in which four of the coal company officials and several miners were injured. No amount of coaxing will get the 350 men to resume work.

THE BOSTON CURB MARKET.

Boston, July 31.—At a stormy meeting of the curb brokers last evening, during which the committee of reorganization named on Wednesday was thrown out and after two chairmen had conducted two sessions of the brokers, Thomas W. Lawson was elected a member of the committee on reorganization of the curb market affairs. The committee later met and elected Lawson chairman. Lawson says that the curb market unanimously accepted his general scheme of reorganization.

THOMAS CAR REACHES PARIS.

Paris, July 31.—The Thomas car in the New York-to-Paris automobile race crossed the frontier at noon yesterday and reached Paris at 8 o'clock last evening. The car was escorted up the boulevards by automobile enthusiasts who met it at Meaux, twenty-five miles east of Paris, and was greeted with cheering. The race committee was awaiting at the office of The Mad to receive the car. Congratulations were showered upon the intrepid crew.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Cranston, R. I., July 31.—Charged with the murder of Dennis Penedon in Knightsville, Pietro Esquizzera and Angelo Di Mado were bound over without bail for the grand jury after a hearing before Judge Knowles. The murder is alleged to have been the result of a barroom dispute.

TWO FOREIGNERS HANDLED BODY.

Police Get Valuable Clue In Greenpoint Mystery.

WHAT AUTOPSY REVEALED.

Cut In Unknown Woman's Throat Made Either by Skilled Physician or Person Who Is an Expert In Surgery--General Alarm Sent Out For a Man and Wife Who Have Disappeared From Greenpoint.

New York, July 31.—That at least two men were concerned in the murder of the unidentified woman whose half-chained and mid-seared body was found on the Greenpoint avenue dump, has been established by the police.

Philip O'Brien, a Greenpoint laborer, saw a covered wagon drive to the dump at dawn Wednesday. Two men got out and lifted from the wagon what the witness supposed to be only an old mattress. He saw the men pile a heap of brush on the mattress, pour oil over it and then set fire to the bundle. Believing the mattress was being destroyed because it was diseased, infected, the man avoided the spot. There can be no doubt but that the mattress was the one in which the body of the murdered woman was concealed.

This important development has given the police valuable aid, for it also led to the discovery that the covered wagon was seen by several other persons, and the police now have a minute description of the two men who were in it. They were foreigners.

Another startling feature of the case was disclosed when Coroner's Physician West made a second autopsy on the body. His first autopsy revealed a deep cut across the woman's throat, and the second autopsy shows that this cut was made either by a skilled physician or a person who is an expert in surgery. The incision, says the coroner's physician, is such as is made in desperate cases of diphtheria where it is necessary to pierce the windpipe to prevent strangulation. Whether this wound caused death or not West was unprepared to say. Besides the incision in the woman's throat, the skull was fractured and the police believe that poison may also have been used to make three sure of killing the victim.

Failure to establish the identity of the victim is the greatest obstacle the police have to overcome in solving the mystery. A general alarm has been sent out for Mrs. Maud Muskovitch and her husband, Stanley, who have disappeared. Detectives learned that the couple are missing and there is a possibility that the murdered woman may be Mrs. Muskovitch.

Muskovitch and his wife left Greenpoint last Monday, supposedly for Stamford, Conn., and Mrs. Muskovitch has not been seen since. Her husband returned to Greenpoint on Tuesday alone. It is said.

IGNITING THE WABASH ROAD.

Cleveland, July 31.—Federal Judge Taylor yesterday ordered that a suit be placed on file that may cost the Wabash railroad $150,000. Forty holders of old Toledo and Wabash railway bonds brought the action. The suit is an interpleader in the case of James Compton, who fought the Wabash through state courts and won in the supreme court of Ohio. He then fought through United States courts and won in the highest tribunal. He got a verdict for $800,000 due on the same issue of bonds and interest from November, 1922. The railroad has resisted Compton for over twenty years.

THE GLACIER AT SUVA.

Suva, Fiji Islands, July 31.—The Glacier, storeship of the United States Atlantic fleet, has arrived here. She reports having been in communication by wireless with the battleship Georgia yesterday at a distance of 1200 miles and hopes to effect a chain of communication with the fleet through the tender Yankton, which is in the Tonga Islands, and the repair ship Panther, which is at Pago Pago, Samoa Islands.

RAILROAD FINED $2000.

Baton Rouge, La., July 31.—A $2000 fine was imposed on the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern railroad by District Judge Brunet for failure to provide negro passengers accommodations as good as those furnished white people. The matter was carried to the courts by the state railroad commission to sustain its ruling that equal accommodations must be furnished both races.

SMOTHERED IN SLAVINGS.

Burlington, Vt., July 31.—Archie Frost, 35 years old, was found dead in a large pile of shavings at the lumber mill of Robbins & Edwards. It is supposed that he fell down a long chute and was smothered to death.

A $200,000 FINE.

New York, July 31.—A spectacular fire at Broadway and Fifty-Third street last night damaged the Standard Storage warehouse, causing a loss of $200,000. One fireman was injured and fifteen horses were burned to death.

MISS KELLERMAN'S LONG SWIM.

Had to Give Up When Within a Mile of Her Objective Point.

Boston, July 31.—Annette Kellerman of Australia, who claims the woman's swimming championship of the world, swam a distance estimated at ten and one half miles last night and twenty minutes in Boston harbor yesterday.

Miss Kellerman started from the Charlestown bridge at 12:55 for the swim to Boston light, nearly twelve miles from the starting point. When she reached within a mile of the light the tide, which had been against her for five miles, and an unusually swift current which she encountered, prevented further progress on the part of the swimmer, although she was still strong and eager to finish. She left the water at 7:15 and declared she experienced no ill effects from her long swim.

Miss Kellerman accomplished more than did any one of the forty odd men in the race over the same course a year ago.

She swam a mile farther than did Louis Jact, the winner of that race, or than Mahoney or Rhodes, who, with Jact, were the last to be taken from the water that day.

It was the turn of the tide that defeated Miss Kellerman when victory looked to be in her grasp. It was the same adversity that befell Jact, Mahoney and Rhodes last year.

WILL CAMP ON FRANKLIN PARK.

Knights of Pythias Win Contention In Supreme Court.

Boston, July 31.—A writ restraining the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, from erecting a camp on Franklin Field was denied the Harvard Improvement association by Justice Braley in the supreme court late yesterday afternoon.

Work on the monster camp to accommodate 10,000 men was continued with renewed vigor when the announcement of the decision was made to the men at work there by Post Grand Chancellor Halliattine of Boston, who presented the Pythians' side of the case to the court.

Justice Braley based his opinion on the government statute of 1875, which permits the park commissioners to issue a permit such as was applied for by and granted to the Knights of Pythias.

Mr. Balliattine, in presenting his case to the court, stated that every Pythian convention had a camp, and Boston was the first city in the history of the order to object to its erection.

SETTLED BY ADMIRALTY.

London, July 31.—The admiralty has exonerated both Admiral Beresford and Admiral Scott from any blame in connection with the mistaken signal in the case of the last naval maneuvers. It seems that Beresford gave the signal for an evacuation which, if obeyed, apparently would have brought the cruisers Argyle and Good Hope into collision. Scott, who was on board the Good Hope, doubted the accuracy of the signal and refrained from obeying it. The admiralty finds that the commander's order was not dangerous, but as Scott thought there was risk he was justified in turning his cruiser the other way, and Beresford so informed him at the time.

A WARM IRISH WELCOME.

Dublin, July 31.—Members of the Irish-American Athletic club received a tremendous popular welcome here last night. The greeting accorded them was entirely spontaneous, the mere announcement of the hour of their arrival bringing many thousands of persons to the station to meet the athletes. The streets along the route to their hotel were completely blocked by the Dubliners. Arriving at their hotel, the athletes were greeted by Joseph Devlin, who said that wherever they went in Ireland a similar welcome awaited them.

AWFUL FALL TO DEATH.

Jackson, Miss., July 31.—William Oliver, a young accountant, was killed while making a parachute drop near here. Just as the parachute filled the strings on one side snapped and the aeronaut dropped 2000 feet to his death.

DISHONEST BANK CASHIER.

Seattle, Wash., July 31.—R. F. Parkins, assistant cashier of the First National bank of this city, was arrested last night, when confronted with an apparent discrepancy in his accounts, confessed to a shortage of $48,339.

BALLOON REGISTERED SHOTS.

Magdeburg, July 31.—The army yesterday made experiments in shooting at a captive balloon at a distance of 2½ miles. Although it was struck thirty times, the balloon did not collapse.

TELEGRAPHIC MESSAGES.

The Iowa state executive council has issued a certificate of nomination for Congressman Hull. This makes him the Republican nominee and is the last official step in his nomination. A dangerous fire in the wholesale oil house of the E. H. Little Oil company, in the heart of the wholesale district of Portland, Me., was checked with a loss of about $250,000. The cause of the fire is not known.

BLOODHOUNDS AID ARMED MEN.

Determined Effort to Capture Dangerous Crazy Man.

IS SUSPECTED OF MURDER.

Every Nook and Corner in Vermont Hills and Valleys Around East Wallingford Being Closely Hunted For Elroy Kent, Who Is Alleged to Have Killed Miss Congdon After Escaping From Insane Asylum.

East Wallingford, Vt., July 31.—The mountains and valleys for miles around this village are filled with armed men, determined, with the aid of four bloodhounds, to run down and capture Elroy Kent, an escaped prisoner from the Waterbury insane asylum, who is alleged to have murdered Miss Della B. Congdon in this village on Friday of last week. Some of the men have not slept for three nights, but all are resolved to keep up the search until they have placed the fugitive safely behind the bars.

With the arrival of the four bloodhounds yesterday from the kennels of Manning Cleveland in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sheriff Fish, assisted by several deputies and about 100 armed men, started on a search for the trail of the man. The dogs soon got the scent and followed the trail until sunset last night, when they were called off. State Attorney Lawrence arrived here from Rutland to direct the search.

The path led to the home of Kent's sister, Mrs. Rollin Flinders, in the mountains near Wallingford, and then branched off in another direction. The sheriff and his deputies searched the house, but found no trace of the fugitive. Mrs. Flinders denied that he had been there. The party then took up the trail, which led by several houses, all of which were carefully searched. At dusk the dogs and men began tired out, the hunt was temporarily abandoned, and the men were stationed at cross roads and at points throughout the hills for the night. With the first break of dawn today the search was renewed.

A CIVIL WAR HERO.

Tacoma, Wash., July 31.—Stephen Grubb, a Civil war veteran whose action at a critical moment is said to have saved General Sherman's entire store of ammunition just before his famous march from Atlanta to the sea, died here last night, aged 73 years. Just before the battle of Resaca lightning struck a telegraph pole standing in the midst of the 700,000 rounds of ammunition and 500,000 rounds of artillery ammunition, the entire supply of Sherman's army. The lightning set fire to the pole, and Lieutenant Grubb, assisted by Private Dan R. Anderson, mounted the pole and extinguished the flames at the imminent risk of being blown up.

PRINCE BECOMES DOCTOR.

Strassbourg, July 31.—The University of Strassbourg announced that Prince August, the fourth son of Emperor William, has passed his examination for the degree of doctor in the science of government, with the endorsement "very good" on his papers, and that the title of doctor has been conferred on him. This is the first time that a Hohenzollern has taken the degree of doctor. The emperor some years ago intended sending August to Harvard for the completion of his education. This was not done because the empress did not wish to be separated from her son for so long.

WOMAN GROUND TO PIECES.

Seabright, N. J., July 31.—Miss Julia Drucker of New York was killed and her sister, Mary, and Miss Ruth Rouse were seriously injured at a railroad crossing here. The horse attached to the carriage in which the young women were driving became frightened and dashed in front of a passing train. Miss Drucker was ground to pieces. Parts of her body had to be gathered up in bags and pails.

MAY SELL TOWN FOR TAXES.

Providence, July 31.—Because the town of Johnston has neglected up to this time to turn over to the state treasury its proportion of the state tax for six months ending on July 15, there is a possibility that under the law the matter will be reported to the attorney general, and the latter will levy upon the property of the town and sell sufficient thereof to liquidate the bill.

POTATO BUG PARASITE.

Presque Isle, Me., July 31.—Farmers throughout this region are rejoicing in the discovery by Judge Smith of this village, a practical farmer, as well as a lawyer, of a parasite that seems to be exterminating the potato bugs. It is a green bug with a long lance, which it thrusts half way through its victim.

SEVERE TROPICAL STORM.

Norfolk, July 31.—The Virginia coast is in the grasp of a tropical storm, sweeping up the coast. The velocity of the wind is steadily increasing and a high sea is running. An unknown three-masted schooner is reported ashore at New Inlet. Although not on duty, the lifesavers are standing by.

THE NEW TURKISH GOVERNMENT.

Machinery May Not Run Without Disturbance.

Washington, July 31.—American Ambassador Leshman at Constantinople, in a dispatch to the state department touching recent events in Turkey and the proclamation of a constitution, says:

"The change has been brought about with comparatively little bloodshed, although it is too early to determine whether the new machinery of the government will run without conflict or disturbance. The constitution is limited and is the same as that granted at the beginning of the present reign. Changes in the industry are taking place and efforts are being made to have some of the palace entourage displaced."

Mr. Leshman says the populace openly charge the palace committee with unscrupulousness and appear to regard it as responsible for past mis. The dispatch adds that a general amnesty for political prisoners has been proclaimed.

SWITCHMEN FAVOR STRIKE.

Scranton, Pa., July 31.—Grand Master Hawley of the Switchmen's union says that 80 percent of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad's men have voted for a strike, and that the grievance committee is now awaiting a reply from President Tinsdale to a letter requesting a conference, with a view of effecting a settlement before the committee takes up the question of ordering the men out.

CHICAGO IS SWelterING.

Chicago, July 31.—The relief promised in the government weather forecast from the heat of the last five days, which has been responsible for eleven deaths and more than sixty prostrations, has not arrived. Four more deaths were added to the roll yesterday, and of the fifteen prostrations reported several victims are in a critical condition.

DEATH KICK FROM HORSE.

Pawtucket, R. I., July 31.—With the imprint of a horse's hoof squarely in the face, the toe at the chin and the two canks beside either of the man's eyes, the body of Owen A. Lewis, 61, was found in the stableyard of the Hope Webbing company.

HAMPTON BEACH CASINO PARK

The attraction at Hampton Beach Casino Park all next week, commencing Monday, Aug. 30, will be a high class vaudeville company from the office of the Joseph J. Flynn Amusement Company of Boston and New York. The management of the Park feel that in offering this bill they are presenting their patrons as good a vaudeville show as one might see in any of the big cities where the prices would be much higher than is asked at this popular summer resort. The principal features of the bill are:

Donahitt & Jones, in a twenty minutes' travesty, "The Manager and the Minister"; Graham & Lawrence, comedians, singers and dancers; Lynes & Dymos, expert club jugglers; Charles, colored entertainer; and Bon Nurse, "The Man from Nowhere in Trampology."

OUR CANDIDATES: FOR PRESIDENT
WILLIAM H. TAFT
 of Ohio.
 FOR VICE PRESIDENT
James S. Sherman of New York.

FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1938

A REVELATION

William R. Hearst made a speech at Chicago the other day, as temporary chairman of the Independence League national convention.

This is what he said of the Democratic party: "No prudent citizen will support a combination to which Taggart supplies a candidate and Parker a platform, for which Ryan will pay the freight and the people will pay the penalty."

This is what he said of the two old parties together: "I urge our party to be intelligently and courageously constructive, not merely obstructive like the Republican party or destructive like the Democratic party."

Mr. Hearst belongs to the constructive. He constructed a boom for himself to be president. In regard to that boom, the Republican party has proved obstructive, and the Democratic party has proved destructive. The program about the 'constructives' is a good one, and when accompanied by the proper diagram is capable of being understood. We trust that this paragraph is instructive.

Arthur Brisbane is the name of a man who writes editorials for Mr. Hearst's papers. If Mr. Hearst had not personally delivered that speech the other day at Chicago, and personally declared that it was his own speech, one that he thought up with his own brain, we should have inferred that it was one of Mr. Brisbane's editorials.

We like Mr. Brisbane. We shook hands with him once, and he's a pleasant gentleman to meet. And we are sorry for him. It was cruel of his employer to make that speech. The whole world has been admiring the Brisbane editorials for their forcible, though forcible literary style. And now Hearst has made this speech and revealed that the Brisbane literary style is not the Brisbane style at all, but that Mr. Brisbane writes in the Hearst style. It is sad to find such a man as Mr. Brisbane to be only an echo.

Of course Mr. Brisbane didn't write the speech for Mr. Hearst.

BIRD'S-EYE VIEWS

One million copies of the speech of acceptance of Judge Taft as Republican presidential candidate will be printed in pamphlet form for general distribution over the United States. The distribution will be made chiefly through channels of the Republican state committees.

The monetary commission is to visit Canada and make an inspection of the currency system of that country. The fact that the Dominion has stood the last two winters better than the United States is evidence that we might learn something from conditions there, though the happy circumstance may be more due to Canada remaining nearer the old style of a people who live mostly on the farms where they can manage to employ themselves.

It seems that since the whalers have ceased to go from Salem harbor the whales are coming in, looking for the whalers. At least, a whale was in the harbor early Monday evening, according to the statements of cottagers and visitors who gathered about the steamboat landing. It is said that schools of herding now about the harbor doubtless attracted the whale, and many of the smaller fish were seen to jump above the surface. Salem must be getting obvious of York Beach, but it is too late for the Massachusetts town to advertise a real live whale after the Maine town has so much trouble to get rid of a dead one.

Manchester board of health blames the flies for the cases of typhoid fever in that city.

Maine's forestry commissioner, Hon. Edgar E. King of Orono, has given out an official opinion that the white pine blight is due to the terrible cold in the winter of 1906-07.

OUR EXCHANGES

Just What We Said

Mr. Roosevelt's function was to awaken the public mind to the necessity of checking serious abuses and to set in motion the machinery for their correction. Mr. Taft's will be to develop that machinery, to see that it is exactly adapted to its purpose and completely performs its work. The work of initiation is over and public regulation in its broad outlines has been created. The patient filling in of its details remains to be accomplished, as the operation of existing laws reveals defects—some of which Mr. Taft points out in his speech—or as conditions so change as to call for modifications to meet them.

Insect Pests.

Supt. Kirland has done well to call the attention of the public of Eastern New England to the new peril to the oaks from the insect known as the oak borer and to many varieties of trees from the European leopard moth. The rule for dealing with broken limbs and debris caused by each of these pests is burning. Noteworthy is the statement that the leopard moth flourishes best where English sparrows are most numerous and have driven away the native birds.—Boston Herald.

Elect Taft Who Will Enforce the Laws

Laws making rebates a crime and the wide spread enforcement of this legislation has impressed a host of good people with the idea that this work was about done.

The Chicago standard Oil case shows how much remains to be accomplished, and how indispensable it is that the next president be a man like Judge Taft, familiar with this work judicially and pledged to complete it. The enforcement of these laws, prohibiting and penalizing rebates, is more important than their enactment, and their enforcement is only possible by unceasing and constant vigilance. Foster's Democrat.

But How Do You Pronounce It?

Now the campaign poets will have their work cut out for them trying to find a word that rhymes with Hixen.—Springfield News.

Good Things To Eat

NUMBER ELEVEN

MARGUERITES AND MENAGERIES.

Bake this round cookies, or thicker soft cookies, and when cold ornament with plain white frosting to resemble the petals of a daisy and dot the centers with melted chocolate. Yellow frosting used for the petals will give a black-eyed Susan. Make this yellow frosting with the yolk of an egg and sugar or tint some of the white frosting with color paste.
 The birds and beasts are more conveniently cut from a very thin sheet of cookie dough as they do not rise out of shape. After cutting take them up on a broad-bladed knife and transfer to a tin sheet. When cool mark the eyes with melted chocolate. Fancy cutters cost, but three or four cents each.
 For a thicker cookie cream one cup of butter and two cups of sugar and four eggs beaten and five cups of flour in which four-level teaspoons of baking powder have been sifted. Flavor with a teaspoon of vanilla. Chill the dough, then make into small balls and set a good distance apart on a tin sheet or large dripping pan. Now take a small baking powder tin and press each ball of dough into a flat cake, making them uniform, and bake. In this way the cookies can be handled easily and the dough may be softer than when it must be rolled out and cut. Too much flour makes a cookie hard instead of crisp.

THEATRICAL JOTTINGS

A Theatrical Tonic

A theatrical tonic has arrived—the annual summer show at the Tremont opened last night. Just what the name of the place, "A Knight for a Day," has to do with the story is a matter that might bother the serious student of drama, but in this summer it is different. The main thing is not to worry, and "A Knight for a Day" will help you at the task.

It may be recalled that the summer season at the Tremont has never had a better start, and Mr. D. C. Whitney's production that has been at Wallack's, in New York, since Christmas, should find Tremont street fully as receptive as Broadway.

Stage pictures and groupings of wonderful beauty were devised, with electrical effects that make Edison's efforts at the game seem amateurish. The audience has no opportunity to grow restless. The production is timed to the second, one novelty following another with splendid rhythm. The eye as well as the ear is kept occupied—nothing runs stale.

MARATHON WINNER HIS OWN TRAINER

When John J. Hayes won his great victory in the Marathon race at the London Olympiad a good example of the self-developed athlete was shown. Up to last Thanksgiving day this boy had been practically unknown. He had developed nearly all his speed and stamina in the Sunday runs across country in the Bronx while a member of the St. Bartholomew New York Club, and ran partly for the fun. Unlike the athletes in the big clubs, Hayes had no trainer to help him, but he just plugged away along the city streets at night after work and spent all his holidays in competition with other youngsters in the little clubs.

Hayes first came into great prominence when he won the Yonkers Marathon race last November. Although the course over which this was run was so arduous that many athletes with big reputations as distance runners had to receive medical attention before they had completed two-thirds of the route, Hayes finished comparatively fresh far ahead of his field. After this race he was invited to join the Irish-American A. C., and since then has been competing for the "Winged Flat" organization. As a member of the latter organization he ran another five mile race last May, finishing second to J. P. Marlessey in the Boston Marathon.

Hayes is only nineteen years old and is 5 feet 3 3/4 inches tall. When in condition, which is practically all the year round, he weighs 115 pounds. He was born in the United States of Irish parents.

Young Hayes worked as an assistant in the superintendent's office of Bloomingdale Brothers, New York City, prior to his sailing for London, but as a reward for his victory he will be promoted to the position of manager of the sporting goods department at Bloomingdale's. He has been in the employ of the Bloomingdale's for three years and has a reputation for great energy and capability in his work. A great deal of his training was done on a cinderpath on the roof of the store where he worked.

YORK BEACH

York Beach defeated Newburyport Friday in a closely fought contest on railroad field. The teams were evenly matched and the game was very exciting throughout. York Beach finally winning in the last inning on an error by Pike. The features of the game were the batting of Aldrich and Sherman, for the Newburyport team. Houghton also pitched a fine game for the visitors. McLan of the beach team made a sensational catch in deep right field, shutting the visitors out of a possible run. Hudley and Richardson of the beach team batted freely, putting the ball wherever they pleased.

Amateurs again entertained at the Gay White Way on Thursday night. These weekly performances have become so famous that the rush for tickets is great. This time the first prize was awarded to Evelyn Barretto and the second to Mr. Carter for buck dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Greeley of Manchester on Thursday celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary at their cottage, The Billows. They were the recipients of many amusing and useful gifts. Bridge whist was played during the evening and prizes were awarded to Mrs. A. B. Dickey and A. deMontpel. Refreshments were served and the party broke up at a late hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stearns and Mrs. M. A. Joy and daughter Edith of Nashua are enjoying a stay at the Bryant cottage in Concordville.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Toomey, Miss Marion Burnett, Miss Lorraine Baldwin and Mrs. L. E. Browne of Nashua are with Miss Hazel Holman of Waltham at the Towne cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Knowles and Miss Mary Knowles of Somerville are at the beach.

Mrs. Addie Whitney and Clarina A. Whitney of Maynard are enjoying a stay at the Fairmount.

Among the late arrivals at Young's Hotel are Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Osgood and Paul Osgood of Rochester and Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Maxon of Portsmouth.

Miss M. E. Fagan and Miss R. O. Gilmore of Concord are stopping at the Kearsarge Hotel.

Mrs. D. M. Sizer of Concord is at the Ocean House.

Charles Leahy of Hopkinton is at the Kearsarge.

The baseball nine defeated the Dover independents, nine to five, on Wednesday.

The Republicans of York will nominate their legislative candidate on Tuesday evening, Aug. 4.

His Excuse.

LITTLE Bobbie is a faithful attendant in the "baby class" at Sunday school. One day, when the teacher called upon him to recite the Lord's Prayer, he started bravely, blundered, started again, and finally gave up, saying: "Teacher, I can't say it, I'm so out of practice."

Common Cause of Colds.

The fact that colds are more common in winter than in summer is not due simply to the lower temperature. It is mainly because people spend less of their time in the open air. Dreading the chilly air they remain indoors, the health is proportionately lowered and they take cold easily.

A Slam at the Eternal Feminine.

The eternal feminine is that portion of the normal woman which is glad when one man can't live without her, gladder when two can't live without her, and gladdest when so many can't live without her that somebody has to be killed off.—Puck.

What Hurts Most.

"I tell you," said Similek, "men are getting so deceitful these days that you can't trust your best friends." "And what's worse," interrupted Borroughs, gloomily, "you can't get your best friends to trust you."—Philadelphia Press.

Living Out.

It is a startling fact that even in the busy cities of Scotland girl workers usually live out, there, as in the colonies, the so-called barrack system being antipathetic to the temperament of the people.—Woman at Home.

King George's Joke.

"Lord Chancellor," said George III. on one occasion, "did I deliver the speech well?" "Very well, indeed, your majesty," was the answer. "I am glad of that," said the king, "for there was nothing in it."

SIGNIFICANCE OF TRIP OF THE FLEET To Back Up Message Taft Took East To China

United States To Interpose Its Powers Against Japanese Encroachment Of China

Washington, July 31.—The average American scarcely realizes, according to the standard word now disseminated here, the effect throughout the Orient of the visit of the American fleet to Asiatic waters. That this voyage and the visit of Secretary William Howard Taft to China eight months ago are and were identical in purpose, is now becoming apparent. The determination of the United States government to interpose its power and influence against the Japanese policy of encroachment in China; that China need not fear the aggressions of Japan—these were the messages borne to the Far East last year by the then secretary of war, the man who is now Republican candidate for President. And that message is being backed up by the American fleet now bound for the Orient.

On his trip East last year as the personal representative of the President Mr. Taft delivered a speech at the Astor house in Shanghai, China, which in that country is regarded as an Asiatic "Monroe Doctrine." In this country strangely enough, the speech received scant notice, and was soon forgotten. It has never been published in more than fragmentary form, and its deep significance has never been appreciated. Recent visitors from China say that the Taft speech is the most notable political occurrence in the Orient for years.

That Secretary Taft made the long journey to the East for the purpose of opening the Philippines Parliament was the official reason given for the journey. While he was making his speech in Shanghai, the battleship fleet was making preparations for its cruise around the world. That speech of Secretary Taft is known, published and circulated in every quarter of the Chinese empire in which in the past few years the number of newspapers has increased from three to 800. Mr. Taft's speech was delivered to the heads of the powerful six companies, heads of trade organizations, and heads of the empire. That the speech was intended to the entire Chinese nation and the world, is believed in the East. Mr. Taft said:

"There is not the slightest danger of a sudden cessation of the present relations of the United States to the Philippines, such as would be involved in the sale of those islands and the present purpose of the act of the United States toward China must be regarded and alone as a country interested in the trade of China, has also as a power owning territory in China's immediate neighborhood."

This statement has definitely set at rest in China reports circulated by Japan that that country would buy the Philippines from the United States, a possibility especially feared by the Chinese.

"The policy of the United States," continued Mr. Taft, "has been authoritatively stated to be that of seeing the permanent safety and peace of the Chinese, the preservation of China's territorial and administrative unity, the protection of all rights guaranteed by her to friendly powers by treaty and international law, and, as a safeguard for the world the principle of equal and impartial trade with all parts of the Chinese empire."

"This was the policy which John Hay made famous as that of the 'open door.' By written memorandum all the great powers interested in the trade of China have subscribed to its wisdom and declared their adherence to it. The government of the United States has not deviated in the slightest way from its attitude in this respect since the policy was announced in 1904."

After the battleship fleet sailed from San Francisco, Japan withdrew its objections to the construction of the road.

In his speech Mr. Taft further said that American trade in China was sufficiently great to require the government of the United States to take every legitimate means to protect it against diminution or injury by the political preference of its competitors. Japan is the chief rival of the United States in the Chinese trade.

"How far the United States would go in the protection of its Chinese trade, no one of course can say," said Mr. Taft later on in his speech. "This much is clear however, that the merchants of the United States are being so aroused to the importance of their Chinese export trade that they view political obstacles to its expansion with deep concern."

THIS IS GRAND OPERA YEAR

Outside of New York and a very few of the other large cities of the United States it has heretofore been impossible to hear grand opera interpreted by great singers. In this country, and in New York alone have extended seasons of grand opera of the first class been maintained. In other large cities the season has lasted for a week at the most and the operas have been given by the New York Metropolitan Opera Company.

But when Oscar Hammerstein entered the field and opened his Manhattan Opera House such a lively opera season followed in New York that interest was awakened all over the country, and the consequence is that today the people everywhere, North, East, South and West, are grand opera hungry and want to hear for themselves what it is that has set the metropolis so musical.

It was to meet such a demand that Imperio Gran of New York gathered together a company of the world's greatest singers of opera and headed them with Mme. Edith Helena, who is conceded to be the greatest contralto soprano living today—superior to Tetrazzini and fully equal to Melba and Patti in their prime. Mme. Helena is young and beautiful, and is in the zenith of her career. Her marvelous voice—with the widest range ever known in the entire history of music, is fresh, sweet and deliciously pure in quality. Throughout Italy, the home of opera, Mme. Helena's success was unprecedented and she was everywhere acclaimed by press and public as "greater than Patti." For an Italian no higher praise than that is possible. She received ovations in every large city of Europe, and it was while European managers were clamoring for the American girl to return to them that Mr. Gran sought her out and prevailed upon her to head his company of great singers, and to sing the leading soprano roles in his grand opera and music festivals.

Surrounding Mme. Helena are stars of the first magnitude, such as are heard only in the great opera houses of the world. They include such artists as Signor Edoardo Cappelletti, the tenor who succeeded Caruso at La Scala, Milan; Mons. Victor Oeschler, baritone, of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York; Rosemarie Campbell, contralto, of the San Carlo Opera, Naples; and Anton Hegner, the violinist virtuoso, of the Patti and Calvé tours and the favorite of many European courts where he has played many times for royalty. The musical conductor of the notable company of incomparable artists is Mr.

J. Sebastian Hiller, of Covent Garden, London.

In addition to rendering in superb style the finest gems from a vast repertoire of famous grand operas, the company will give in costume and with all the necessary accessories an entire act from one of the operas, such as the Garden Scene from Gounod's "Faust," the fourth and greatest act of "Rigoletto" or the great "Miserere" act from "Il Trovatore," thus transporting practically the Metropolitan Opera House or Covent Garden, or La Scala, Milan, to the local theatre for a night.

Such a feast of high-class and beautiful music has never before been offered here, and probably many a long day will pass ere its like is heard again.

"It is astonishing," remarked a well known authority on diseases of the skin, "how such a large number of people, especially ladies, are, by attractively written advertisements, induced to purchase some one of the many so-called Beauty Creams now on the market, not knowing, of course, that they mostly contain oily or greasy substances that clog the pores of the skin and are, for that reason, the very worst thing that they could possibly use. My treatment of Pimples, Blackheads, Blisters and all eruptions of the skin, are as follows and has invariably proved very successful. Wash the face carefully every night before retiring with warm water and a little oat meal tied up in a small cloth bag, then, after drying well, use the following inexpensive and perfectly harmless prescription, which can be filled at any Drug Store. Glycerin 1-2 oz. Ether 1 oz. Alcohol 7 oz. Use this mixture on the face as often as possible during the day, but use night and morning any way, allowing it to remain on the face at least ten minutes, then the powdery film may be wiped off. Do not wash the face for some little time after using. By following this simple treatment, you will soon have a clear and brilliant complexion."

Coy Young Thing.
The following advertisement recently appeared: "Being aware that it is indecent to advertise for a husband, I refrain from doing so, but if any gentleman should be inclined to advertise for a wife, I will answer the advertisement without delay. I am young, am domesticated, and considered ladylike. Apply," etc.

Mingling of Past and Present.

Why "Deaf as an Adder."
"Deaf as an adder," taken from the "Deaf adder that stoppeth her ears" in the Psalms, is founded on an oriental superstition that a serpent presses one ear to the ground while covering the other with its tail—an acrobatic feat that might stump even the wisdom of a serpent, since a snake has no external ear.

Hen Bitten by Baby Turtles.
Frank Sterling's bantam hen fussed around so at Pittsburgh to rear a family he put six turtle eggs under her. She availed with pride as she felt something moving around under her later, but the next instant was running through the yard with a baby turtle clinging to each leg.

BALKED ON ITEMS

ONCE THAT MR. TIGHTWAD GAVE UP GRACEFULLY.

Recitation of Details Threatened to Run Into Something Like Three-Volume Novel Too Much for Him.

"You know blamed well that when you want any money all you have to do is to ask me for it," said the married man with some heat.

"My dear," said his wife, "You can say 'my dear' as much as you like, but you can't deny it. Will you tell me of any time I have refused you?"

"I think I could tell you of a number of times that you have," said his wife. "Don't you remember—"

"I suppose you are going to say that in 1868, on June 17, at 7:32 p. m., I wouldn't let you have ten cents that you needed. You're great on ringing up dates on a man. No, I don't remember, and you don't remember, either. If you didn't get what you wanted it was because I didn't have it."

"That's just like a man. In the first place, we weren't married in June, 1868. I wasn't born then, so it isn't very likely that I would be asking you for money. In the second place, that's what you always say—that you haven't got it."

"I always say that, do I?"

"Well, nearly always."

"If I kept on at you you'd say, 'Toughen up, and then you'd get to 'occasionally,' and by the time I'd insisted for an hour or two I'd get you planned down to something that approached the actual fact. But I'm not going to insist on anything. I'm the original tightwad, if you're bound to have it that way."

"You know that I never accused you of being stingy."

"O, no, I'm not stingy. I'm just naturally opposed to giving up a cent."

"I never said that."

"It seems to me you've intimated it pretty strongly. All the same, I go back to my original statement and stand by it. If you want any money all you have to do is to ask it. I take it for granted, if you don't advise me to the contrary, that you have a balance on hand."

"Very well, then," said his wife. "Please give me $100, and when that's gone I'll ask for some more."

The married man gasped. "A hundred dollars!" he exclaimed. "What on earth do you want with $100. You're joking."

"There you are," said his wife. "What did I tell you?"

"Well, great Scott!" said the man. "I suppose I might be excused if I ask what you want a sum like that for. You can have it, of course. It doesn't matter whether I meet my business obligations or not. Only, I should like to know where the money is going."

"Very well, then," said his wife. "I'll tell you. I've got to pay the seamstress for two weeks' sewing. That will take $24. Then we've got to have some new sheets and pillow cases. If I buy the stuff and have them made it will cost me a little less than if I buy them ready made, but they can't be much less than 75 cents apiece for white cotton goods have gone up. A dozen at 75 cents each would be—let me see—well, the sheets would cost nine dollars, and the pillow cases about five dollars more. How much does that make? Thirty-eight dollars. I've got to have two or three pairs of gloves. You were remarking how shabby my gloves were looking the last time you took me out. I can get along with two pairs for the present, perhaps, but the gloves will cost five or six dollars. Then the girls need shoes. If you'd rather take them down town and buy the shoes yourself I'll cut that out, but they've got to have them. The matting in the south bedroom is all in holes. I've figured that it would take about 14 yards, and I saw some at 25 cents a yard that night do. That would be $3.50 and the gloves six dollars, would be $9.50, and the—"

"For goodness' sake!" interrupted the man. "What do you suppose I want to hear all those fiddling little details for? I said you could have the money, didn't I?"

A Lucky Catch.
A Brooklyn man, who is an expert deep water fisherman, went forth off the Long Island shore the other day with an equally skillful companion.

"Greatest catch I ever had," he declared in describing his day. "I was a box of cigars in getting a friend he never had equaled it—and I was something of a record producer himself."

"How did I prove it? That's easy. We trooped nearly all day in the vicinity of the wreck of the Rickmers—the oil steamer that was stranded a fortnight before. Say, we pulled up 11 big cans of oil on our lines. Pretty fair, wasn't it? Just as if we had caught a whale—only easier."

General Clean-Up.
Old Mother Hubbard went to the cupboard to get her poor dog a bone. "Shed find it bare, all right," sighed the dog.

"How do you know?" asked the cat. "She hasn't opened it yet."

"No, but don't you know she keeps summer boarders?"

And when the cupboard was opened there was not a meal for a field mouse.

Enigmatic.
"Hello, Mike, what do you do about your laundry now your wife's away?"

"Oh, it's just going by the board."

MEANT TO GIVE WILLIE A TIP.

But the Lady of the House Amended His Father's Instruction.

"My son," said the head of the family after he had read all the sporting news, "there is a good thing for you to remember. I give it to you out of the store of my experience. Had I understood it at your years it would have saved me a good many mistakes."

"Always notice the way your friends laugh. By their laugh you may know their character."

"The laughter of human beings is based on the vowels. If a man laughs in A—the open tone of A which is all—then he is frank and honest, a little fond of noise and excitement, perhaps, and perhaps of a somewhat flighty disposition; but at any rate honest. You can trust him, son."

"Those who laugh in E—pronounced ay—are melancholy. Those who laugh in I—pronounced ee—are cheerful. Children most often use that tone, as do the simple, the obliging, the affectionate, the thick and the undecided folks."

"When your mother asks me if I am going to the club again and I laugh, using the ee sound, it is not because I am thick, but because I am undecided. It is well to make a note of these things."

"Those who laugh comically in O are generous and inclined to be of a daring nature, the former of which is a good thing, son, and the latter very bad for little boys."

"Never trust a man who laughs in U. He's a scamp. The gas man laughs in U. Yes, indeed, after you grow up you will notice these things."

"Yes, Willie," said the lady of the house from the other side of the table, "remember what your father says, because to-morrow night he will want you to repeat it to company and say he told you. But for your own instruction I will tell you an easier way to pick out nice people than that somewhat complicated method mentioned by your dad."

"Notice the thing that makes men or women laugh. Never mind how they laugh or in what vowel sound they do it. Find out the thing that creates the laughter."

"If it is really a funny thing they are all right. If it is some provocation that some one else is in or some idea that is not kindly or gentle then they are not all right. And, Willie, it is about time you went to bed now."

"No woman ever did have a sense of humor," remarked the head of the family of the family as he went out and silently closed the door after him.

Automatic Money Assorter.

A machine has just been invented in Prague for assorting coins. The inventor claims that it will assort metal coins which have been thrown together, regardless of their denominations, placing each denomination in a separate basket. The various coins are thrown indiscriminately into a funnel at the top of the machine, and from the funnel they slide downward, alighting on a spiral track. This track has a protecting edge or raised border containing slits corresponding to the various sizes of the coins. As the coins of various denominations slide downward on to the track through some peculiar mechanism of the machine they pass through the slits corresponding to their various sizes, entering their respective baskets at the bottom of the machine. It is said that several firms handling large amounts of coin daily have tried the machine with satisfactory results.

The same principle is not unknown in Florida and California, where it is adopted for sizing oranges.—Harper's Weekly.

Magnesia Preserves Teeth.

One who has tried the experiment says that if the teeth are thoroughly brushed at night the last thing before retiring, and a piece of magnesia the size of a filbert taken into the mouth and chewed so as to bring it in contact with all of the teeth at all points it will prove of great advantage.

The magnesia not only corrects the acidity of the mouth, but forms by some chemical action not fully understood a coating over the enamel, which remains over night and protects the teeth from any injury from the stomach acids. It also assists in preventing the recession of the gums, which is such an unpleasant trouble.

Brushing the teeth with a six part solution of dioxide of hydrogen is extremely advantageous. A few drops of tincture used daily to brush the teeth is an old and favorite corrective of bad breath and decay.—Health.

A Freak Rose Bush.

W. R. Wilson, the president of the Huntington (Pa.) borough council, has an oddity at his home on Millin street in the form of a perfectly white rose blooming on a rose bush which has borne only red roses and on which all the other flowers now blooming are red.

The rose is a climbing Rambler, and about eight feet from the ground on the side of the house the one perfectly white rose has grown, standing out prominently among the red ones surrounding it.

Summer Frivolity.

"What will the program at the educational convention at Ocean City embrace?"

"I don't know, but if I am consulted, I say all the pretty teachers."

Resilient Support.

"I might have known that Bubbins would come out as an advocate of elastic currency."

"Why so?"

"Because he is such a bouncer."

WORST FOES OF THE LEVEES.

Sources of Danger to the Artificial Banks Along the Mississippi.

"People who know little about our system of levees, the artificial banks built to confine the flood waters that pour into the Mississippi, no doubt imagine that the heavy rains are the only enemy with which the levees have to contend," said D. J. Gerry of Baton Rouge, La.

"On the contrary, the levees, both during times of flood and low water, are subject to the incessant attacks of living foes, the destructive work of which costs millions of dollars. These foes are alligators, turtles, muskrats, field rats, fresh water terrapin and crawfish. Of all these burrowers that prey on the levees, excavating within them godly chambers or tunnels, the crawfish do the most damage, with the turtles and terrapins a good second. The harm done by the alligators is comparatively small."

"In repairing the banks crawfish holes are often found of immense size. It is these hollow spaces that in time of freshets cause a caving in and break of the levees, which of course, brings on an inundation of all the adjacent country. The worst part of the business is that no way of exterminating these pests has yet been found, and the only thing to be done is to try to keep them away from the banks as much as possible."

BELIEVES FAST IS TOO LONG.

Physician Sees Danger in Emptiness of Stomach During Sleep.

Many persons, says a well-known doctor, though not actually sick, keep below par in strength and general tone, and he is of the opinion that fasting during the long interval between supper and breakfast, and especially the complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep, adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness we so often meet.

It is logical to believe that the supply of nourishment should be somewhat continuous, especially in those who are below par, if we would counteract their emaciation and lower degree of vitality, and as badly exercised is suspended during sleep, while digestion, assimilation and nutritive activity continue as usual, the food furnished during this period adds more than is destroyed, and increased weight and improved general vigor are the results.

Poor Wages in British Army.

In the British army the daily pay of a second lieutenant is 5s. 3d. (with deductions), and when that officer goes on a government transport he has to pay 6s. 6d. a day for his food alone. The pay of a major is 13s. 7d. a day, average service 18 to 20 years, so he would be about 40 years of age and very likely married. There are no married quarters for him and he is allowed no lodging allowance. Furthermore he had hopes of better pay and allowances when he became commanding officer of a regimental district, but those appointments have been swept away and a major has nothing to look forward to as such, unless he is a staff college man. The only officers who receive a living wage are the staff, the royal engineers and the departmental. The regimental officers, the backbone of the army, receive little or nothing and, unless they have friends who can provide for them with an annual allowance, they are bound to get into debt.

New Fountain of Youth.

A certain poet famous for the warmth of her earlier effusions desires to avoid the learned wrinkle that becomes a part of the literary face. So she has above her desk a little mirror in which she glances occasionally as she writes, and if she finds her brow wrinkled in thought she breaks it by smiling vividly and murmuring some assertion of "Peace, Joy and Serenity."

One day as she was doing a very learned essay of the High "Think" order she found that the crease between her eyes persevered. She got angry then and stopped the assertions. On the spur of the moment she tore a corner from her writing pad, dabbed it with mucklago and placed it on the wrinkle.

It stuck fast in a few minutes and then hardened, and now she declares that she has discovered a new fountain of eternal youth.

School Nurses Are Successes.

New York is quite well satisfied with the nurse in the schools, and no doubt another year will see more of them installed. As one instance of the work of the nurse, it is reported that 350 children supposed to be so mentally deficient were found to be so only because they were physically unable to do the work required of them. No doubt in the schools of the future the school nurse, taking in the home the best ideas in regard to health and hygiene, will be considered as much a part of the school system as the teachers.

Reviving Old Industries.

Several American women who have married into English families are seeking to revive decaying industries in their parts of the country. The duchess of Roxburghe is supporting the Scotch flannel industries; Lady Suffolk is turning Malmesbury into a lace-making town; lace and flannel industries in Italy have been revived by Marchesa de Vito, who was Miss Dunham, and she will have a sale in London very soon.
